IMPROVING BRAIN INJURY REHABILITATION OUTCOMES...IS FOOD AND NUTRITION THE MISSING LINK?

The aim of this presentation is to provide delegates with information on how eating habits impact recovery from brain injuries and other catastrophic injuries. It will look at the role of a specialist dietitian and how they can contribute to the multidisciplinary team and provide guidance on when you should consider referring a client to a dietitian and what you should be looking for to know when a referral is indicated.

The benefits of this course being available on line are:

- Complete the training in your own time
- Personalised CPD/APIL certificate for 1 point
- Unlimited time to access the resource
- Resources remain in your account forever to refer back to

Sheri Taylor, Director & Specialist Rehab Dietitian, Specialist Nutrition Rehab

Sheri is the director of Specialist Nutrition Rehab and a registered dietitian with over 25 years of experience in the United Kingdom and Canada. Sheri and the team at Specialist Nutrition Rehab, provide bespoke nutrition and dietetic services designed specifically for adults after a catastrophic injury - including traumatic brain injuries/cerebral palsy, spinal cord injuries and orthopaedic injuries. They aim to provide the most comprehensive and cutting-edge dietetic service in the United Kingdom and are one of the only teams who specialise in taste and smell loss.

Sheri and her team also produce a free monthly newsletter for case managers, solicitors and allied health professionals highlighting current research, practical tips and frequently asked questions relating to nutrition after a catastrophic injury.
